INTERNSHIP ROLE PROFILE

GENERAL DETAILS
Role Title	Product & Implementation Intern
Department	Product & Implementation
Reports to (manager)	Product Manager/ Implementation Engineer
Location	London – Hammersmith (Hybrid working available)
Date	Flexible but will be for 8 weeks

PURPOSE

Circulor is offering an internship in a hybrid role between the Product and Implementation teams. As an intern, you will support product research, feedback, implementation, and customer onboarding. You will be working at the forefront of Circulor's product offering, collaborating with two fast-paced teams creating traceability and transparency within the EV battery supply chain.

TYPICAL TASKS

- Support the Implementation team with customer production process mapping
- Configure and set up Circulor's products
- Provide feedback to Circulor's Product team
- Identify and scope product enhancements based on customer feedback

ESSENTIAL REQUIREMENTS
Application/ Energy	• An interest in the responsible sourcing sector • Communicate efficiently within the Customer and Product team. • Be a team player who is self-motivated but happy to ask for when help when needed. • Can handle multiple tasks at any one time. • Have an analytical mindset.
Knowledge	• High level understanding of critical mineral mining processes, circular economy, critical mineral recycling is useful, but not essential. • Relevant degree or work experience environmental engineering, environmental geography, energy, sustainability is useful.

Technical Skills	• Excellent research, writing and analytical skills. • Ability to deliver highest-quality written deliverables in English, with keen attention to detail.

ABOUT CIRCULOR
Circulor has developed an enterprise software solution that helps businesses analyse, track and manage their supply chains – driving responsible sourcing and GHG emissions reduction. Circulor's market-leading solution provides that proof by collecting data and insights across a huge and growing network of extractors, refiners and manufacturers providing customers with the next-level in evidence and decision-making capability.